Bring Your Game To The Next Level!

Why Esports? Why Valorant?

Did you know?

- In 2019 The International, known as TI, set a crowd-funded esports prize pool record. TI is the major Dota 2 championship. The year before prize pool was $25,532,177. In 2019 this was outdone by almost $10,000,000 with a total prize pool of $34,300,000.
- It also hit a peak viewership of over 1.1 million viewers during the grand finals.
- Viewership across major events in 2019 for esports beat out traditional sport viewership by 49,000,000 viewers according to Newzoo's 2019 Global Esports Market Report.

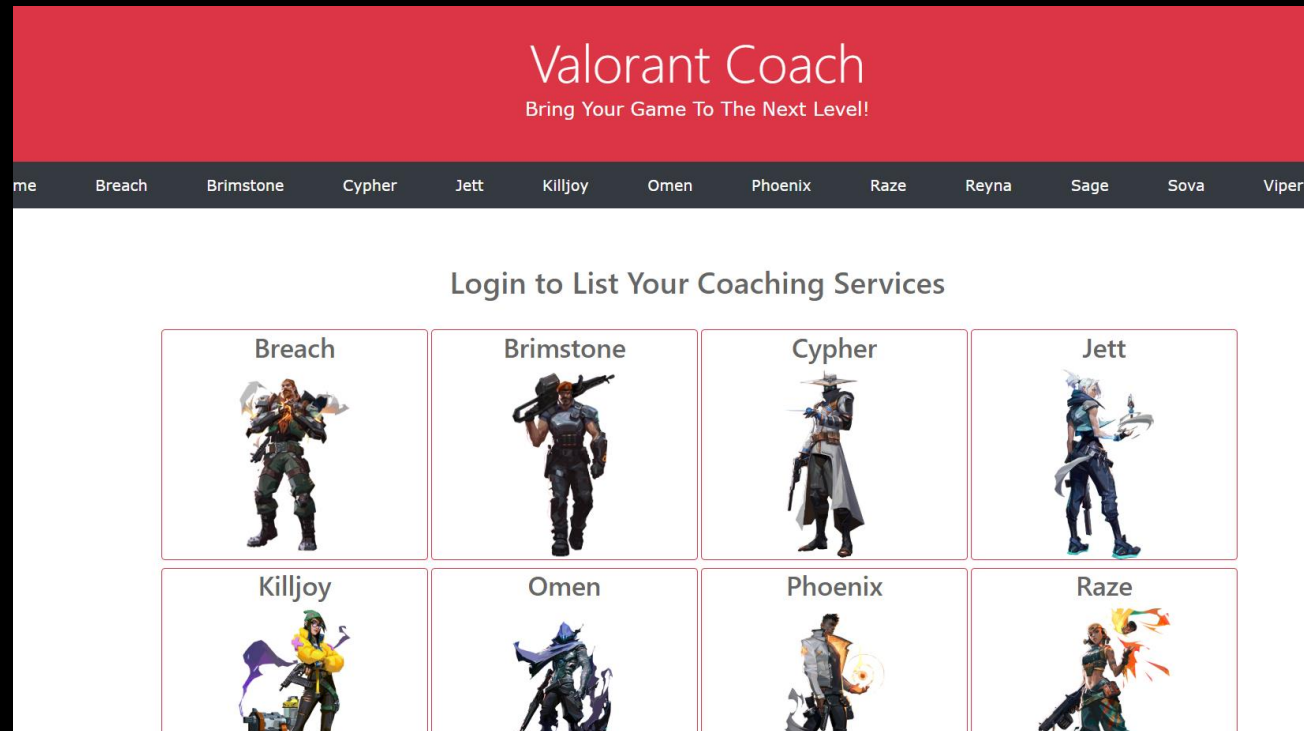

So why Valorant?

- Valorant launched on the 2nd of June 2020 and has already been designed by Riot Games with esports in mind. On its release it had approximately 147,000 views on just Twitch alone.
- Esports organisations are already recruiting teams for tournaments and it is looking to be the next major esport.

Introducing Valorant Coach

- Since Valorant is still in its infancy now is the perfect time to capitalise on its growing popularity before the market becomes saturated.
- With Valorant Coach we aim to connect players with coaches to improve their game sense, aim, and agent and map specific skills.
- Now player can improve at the game and potentially break into a lucrative professional career.
- It also allows players to make a little bit of extra money by selling their services as a coach.

So what now?
